GOOD MEETINGS HELD.

Interest in Revival Services of Vanderbilt Christians.

The Christian Church of Vanderbilt is holding a series of successful revivals. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter that one's system collects.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimply coated tongue, headache, a listless, nervous feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women, as well as men, take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets now and are just as happy as the pink of condition. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel—10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

GERMANS HEAR TALK

Former Pastor of Church Here Discusses Tenth Slide of War.

St. John's German Lutheran Church was crowded to the doors last night with loyal German-Americans to hear a patriotic lecture on the European War by Rev. Philip Laumtine, a former pastor of the church. A contribution of $25 was raised for the German war relief fund.

The lecture was divided into two parts, the first part was given after the singing of "My Country 'Tis of Thee," and the second after the German national anthem, "Der Wacht am Rhein" had been sung. The meeting closed with the singing of the German hymn, "A Mighty Fortress is Our God."

Rev. Laumtine declared that England is the real instigator of the present war, forming an alliance with Russia and France to crush Germany, because she feared to tackle the task herself. "Germany will not be conquered, let alone crushed," he declared. "Those who want to make the American people believe it do not know the German nation."

Reasons Why

Rengo Belt

Reducing Corsets

Should Be Your Choice

The elastic webbing in Rengo Belt Corsets is one of the three chief reasons why stout and medium heavy women find their only lasting satisfaction in these now famous garments—an elastic freedom with reduction of the appearance of heaviness below the hips. Another reason is the exclusive Rengo Belt feature over the abdomen which has straightened the front line without painful compression and thus given to stout and medium women the true style lines which fashion decrees for the slender woman.

Lastly—Rengo Belt Reducing corsets are positively the strongest corsets made and will stand every strain put upon them. Boned with double watch-spring steels guaranteed not to rust.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR CROSS, SICK FEVERISH CHILD

If Little Stomach is Sour,
Liver Torpid or Bowels
Clogged.

Mother can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the digested waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach is clogged.

When cross, fussy, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can not cause injury. No difference what age your little one—full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach ache, head aches, feverish, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a famous bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

THE EASIEST WAY TO END DANDRUFF

Stop Falling Hair and Itching Scalp.

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning noon, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

If you want to keep your hair looking rich, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair so quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everybody notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" Ends All Stomach Distress in Five Minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt, if you have indigestion, gas, heartburn, flatulence, belching, head dizziness and aches, high gas and acids and minute indigestible food, breath four, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of nervous women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps the delicate organs regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.
If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal diet without rebelling, if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach. It's so unnecessary—Adv.

5 Women Avoid Operations

For years we have been stating in the newspapers of the country that a great many women have escaped serious operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is true.

We are permitted to publish in this announcement extracts from the letters of five women. All have been recently received unsolicited. Could any evidence be more convincing?

1. HONOLULU, HI.—"I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached and I was so nervous I could not sleep, and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation, but I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Honolulu, Mo.
2. SHELBYVILLE, KY.—"I suffered from a severe female trouble. My right side hurt me badly—it was finally decided that I must be operated upon. When my husband learned this he got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and after taking it a few days I got better and continued to improve until I am now well."—Mrs. MOLLIE SMITH, R.F.D., Shelbyville, Ky.
3. HANOVER, PA.—"The doctor advised a severe operation, but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and not mind it."—Mrs. ADA WILT, 303 Walnut St., Hanover, Pa.
4. DECATUR, ILL.—"I was sick in bed and three of the best physicians said I would have to be taken to the hospital for an operation as I had something growing in my left side. I refused to submit to the operation and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and it worked a miracle in my case, and I tell other women what it has done for me."—Mrs. LAURA A. GUSWOLD, 2437 East William Street, Decatur, Ill.
5. CLEVELAND, OHIO.—"I was very irregular and for several years my side pained me so that I expected to have to undergo an operation. Doctors said they knew of nothing that would help me. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I became regular and free from pain. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."—Mrs. C. H. GUERRA, 1568 Constant St., Cleveland, O.

CHAPTER X.
I Receive Visitors.
The end wing of the castle was as still as a mouse on the day my house party arrived. Grim old doors took on new padlocks, keyholes were carefully stopped up, creaking floors were calked, and yet I trembled. My secret seemed to be safely planted, but what would the harvest be?

Else Hazzard presented me to her friends, and with kindly generosity I presented the castle to them. There was a Russian baron, whom for brevity's sake I'll call Umovitch. There was a Viennese countess of twenty-six or eight, I heard, but who looked forty. His name was Pless. He was a plain mister. The more I saw of him the first afternoon the more I wondered at George Hazzard's carelessness. Then there were two very bright and charming Americans, the Billy Smiths. He was connected with the American embassy at Vienna, and I liked him from the start. The baron was in the Russian embassy and was really a very nice boy.

"And this Mr. Pless, who is he?" I asked.
"Else was looking at the rakish young man with a plying expression in her tender blue eyes."
"Poor fellow!" she sighed. "He is in great trouble, John. We hoped that if we got him off here where it is quiet he might be able to forget. Oh, but I am not supposed to tell you a word of the story! We are all sworn to secrecy."

"Women," said Billy impressively.
"Then it's easily patched," said I.
"Like a cure like," said Billy.
"You don't understand, John," said Else gravely. "He was married to a beautiful—"
"Now, Else, you're telling," cautioned Betty Billy—Mrs. Billy Smith.
"Well," said Else doggedly, "I'm determined to tell this much. His name isn't Pless. His wife got a divorce from him, and now she has taken their child and run off with it, and they can't find—what's the matter?"
My eyes were almost popping from my head.

"Is he a count?" I cried, so loudly that they all said "Sh!" and shot apprehensive glances toward the pseudo Mr. Pless.

"Goodness!" said Else in alarm. "Don't shout, John."

Billy Smith regarded me speculatively. "I daresay Mr. Smart has read all about the affair in the newspapers."
"I haven't seen anything about it in the papers," said I, trying to recover my self-possession which had sustained a most tremendous shock.

"Thank heaven!" cried Else devoutly.

"The poor fellow is almost distracted," Billy said. "Mr. Smart, we planned this little visit here simply in order to take him out of himself for awhile. It has been such a tragedy for him. He worshipped the child." It was Mrs. Billy who spoke.

"And the mother made way with him?" I queried, reverting to a suddenly acquired cunning.

"It is a girl," said Else in a loud whisper—"the loveliest girl. The mother appeared in Vienna about three weeks or a month ago and—what!—off-goes the child. Abducted—kidnapped! And the court and granted him the custody of the child. That's what makes it so terrible. If she is caught anywhere in Europe—well, I don't know what may happen to her. It is just silly acts as this that make American girls the laughingstocks of the whole world."

By this time I had myself pretty well in hand.

"I daresay the mother loved the child, which ought to condone one among her multitude of sins. I take it, of course, that she was entirely to blame for everything that happened."

"They at once proceeded to tear the poor little mother to shreds, delicately and with finesse, to be sure, but none the less completely."

"What was her social standing in New York?" I inquired.

"Oh, good enough," said Betty Billy. "She was in the smartest set, if that is a recommendation."

To my disgust the three of them refused to enlighten me further as to the history, identity or character of either Mr. or Mrs. Pless, but of course I knew that I was entertaining under my roof by the most extraordinary coincidence the Count and Countess of Something-or-other, who were at war, and the child they were fighting for with motives of an entirely opposite nature.

"What time do we dine?" asked Mr. Pless later, with a suppressed yawn.

"At 8," said Billy promptly.

"I think I'll take a nap," said he. With a languid smile and a little flourish of his hand as if dismissing us, he moved languidly off, but stopped after a few steps to say to me, "Well, explore the castle tomorrow, Mr. Smart. It's just the same to you." He spoke with a very slight accent and in a peculiarly attractive manner. There was charm to the man, I was bound to admit. "I know Schloss Rothsofen very well. It is an old stumping ground of mine."

"Indeed?" said I, affecting surprise.

"I spent a very joyous season here not so many years ago. Hohendahl is a bosom friend."

"I was eager to steal away to the east wing with the news, so somewhat later I knocked at the countess' door. I realized that it was a most unbecomingly hour for calling on a young, beautiful and unprotected lady, but the exigencies of the moment lent moral support to my invasion."

The countess' French maid peered out at me.

"Tell your mistress that I must see her at once."

"Madame is not at home, m'sieur," said the young woman.

"Not at home?" I gasped. "Where is she?"

"Madame has gone to bed."

"Oh!" I said blinking. "Then she is at home. I present my compliments and ask her to get up. Something very expediting has happened."

"Madame has request me to inform m'sieur that she knows the count is here and will you be so good as to call tomorrow morning."

"What! She knows he's here? Who brought the information?"

"The beautiful Max, m'sieur. He bring it with dejeuner, again with dinner and hit pow with the hot water, m'sieur."

"Oh, I see!" said I profoundly. "In that case I—shan't disturb her." Very subtly and ceremoniously I advised caution for the next twelve hours and left.

Now it may occur to you that any self-respecting gentleman in possession of a castle and a grain of common sense would have set about to find out the true names of the guests beneath his roof. But it so happens that I rather enjoyed the mystery. The situation was unique, the comedy most exhilarating. Of course there was a tragic side to the whole matter, but now that I was in for it, why minimize the novelty by adopting arbitrary measures? Somewhat gleefully I decided that it would be good fun to keep myself in the dark as long as possible.

When I reached the room where my guests were assembled I found Mr. Pless and the Baron Umovitch engaged in an acrimonious dispute over a question of bridge etiquette. The former had resented a sharp criticism coming from the latter, and they were waging a verbal battle in what I took to be five or six different tongues, none of which appeared to bear the slightest resemblance to the English language. Suddenly Mr. Pless threw his cards down and left the table without a word of apology to the two ladies, who looked more hurt than angry.

He said he was going to bed, but I noticed that he took himself off in the direction of the moonlit loggia. We were still discussing his defection in subdued tones—with the exception of the late baron—when he re-entered the room.

"Are there real spirits in your castle, Mr. Smart, or have you deth and blood mediums here who roam about in white night dresses to study the moody of the moon from the dimmest ramparts?"

I started. What indiscretion had the countess been up to?

"I don't quite understand you, Mr. Pless," I said, with a politely blank stare.

A SAFE WAY TO STOP INDIGESTION

Without Fear of Weakening the Stomach; Works Fine in Any Case and Brings Relief in Ten Minutes.

The greatest folly of today is committed by people with weak digestive stomachs who take artificial digesters to cure indigestion.

Artificial digesters—pepsin pills, etc.—simply encourage a lazy or tired stomach to shirk its work by doing most of its work for it. This is fine for a time but as every chronic dyspeptic knows, artificial digesters soon lose their efficiency. Where one once did the trick three or four times are now required and the poor old stomach itself is worn out of that way.

Your stomach must be strong enough to expand and contract with a sort of charming motion, so as to mix its digestive juices with your food. If your stomach isn't strong enough to properly churn your food, you will keep right on having indigestion after every meal until you make it strong.

There is one stomach remedy that every dyspeptic can depend on as surely as that the sun will rise tomorrow and that is the famous old M-C-N-A. Stomach Tablets. Most stomach remedies let the stomach rest and digest the food themselves. M-C-N-A won't digest anything, but it will strengthen and stimulate the stomach and make it do its own digesting. It stops stomach pain, gas, bloating, burning, belching, etc., in 10 minutes and does still better by making the flabby, inflamed and inactive stomach walls grow strong and elastic and able to do their own churning. M-C-N-A Tablets never lose their effect and the more often artificial digesters are used the more they are needed. A few weeks use is generally sufficient to put any stomach in fine shape and A. A. Clarke and many other leading druggists hereabouts sell it with that understanding: namely, to refund money to anyone who does not get complete relief.

THOUGHT HERSELF HOPELESS STATES DOCTOR'S PATIENT

Suffered With Partial Paralysis, Pains Through Head and Deafness in Left Ear.

AILING FOR SEVERAL YEARS

In Brief Time Begins to Improve and Keeps Improving With Inter-State Doctors' Aid.

The new system of medicine practiced by the Inter-State Doctors at their Connellsville medical institute on the second floor of the "Rivers National Bank Building at the corner of Pittsburg and Apple streets is daily receiving deserving praise as can be attested by the following statement of endorsement of the treatment that embraces all the good points of the several different old methods of treatment.

"Hagerstown, Maryland, February 8, 1915.

"I have been sick for several years, having been partially paralyzed on one side and suffered with head pains and was bothered with deafness in my left ear. In fact I was in bad shape when I first visited the Inter-State Doctors and had to be helped by my friends up the steps to their offices. I had little hope of improvement at the time for I had tried so many doctors that it seemed that none of them could do me any good.

"When I had taken treatment with the Inter-State Doctors for only two weeks I commenced to improve and have kept improving constantly ever since and as I only commenced treatment with them on December 17, I think I have done wonderfully well for the time. It is now two months and out of the left arm which was drawn until I could hardly use it, has become very much better and I am so well satisfied that I do not think too much can be said of the Inter-State Doctors and their treatment. In fact all symptoms better and I have not had any nervous spells such as I formerly had.

"(Signed), Mrs. Ella Baker,

"217 East Franklin street."

The Inter-State Doctors again announce their office hours which are from 9 A. M. to 12 M. 1 P. M. to 5 P. M. and evenings 7 to 9 o'clock daily. Sunday hours are from 9 A. M. to 12 M. only.

There are three recognized systems of medicine practiced by physicians. These being the allopathic, homoeopathic and eclectic systems. The Inter-State Doctors do not practice merely one of these systems but have taken the good points from all methods and have combined them into one single system of medicine. The results have proven remarkable and to the combining of these systems can be placed much of the credit of the new system of medicine.

Thousands of people have found health through the Inter-State Doctors after old methods of treatment have failed to give the patient the desired results.—Adv.
